Willow Pointe Park is a bright open park with enough room for young children to run and play and a small colourful playground.

The playground is comprised of slides and climbing apparatus making it ideal for younger children. There is seating located near the playground so parents can relax while their little ones play.

There is a walking trail that provides linkages to the neighbourhood and makes a great scenic detour for those out for fresh air or for their regular exercise.

This is a fairly quiet park and perfect for parents wanting a quiet afternoon of play with their little ones.
